Recipes for Success, Intentional Activities to Turn Novices into Intermediates

The content of this workshop is applicable to both in-person and remote classrooms.

The presenters will summarize and share main ideas from the 2020 CSCTFL Extension Workshop presented by Linda Egnatz. They will demonstrate strategies to increase motivation and excitement for language learning. They will help participants discover activities and assessments that coach learners to actively grow in their own language proficiency. Finally, the participants will learn to engage students by connecting interests and goals to learning.

This presentation is an extended version of the one-hour session presented at ICTFL's 2020 Fall Conference.

Presenters:

Julie Jezuit

Leslie Rathunde

Haley Conger

Presenters:

Julie Jezuit is a National Board Certified Spanish teacher who has been teaching Spanish for 21 years. Julie teaches at Lincoln Middle School in Mt. Prospect. She graduated with her BA in Spanish from Elmhurst University. She spent five summer's at St. Louis University's Madrid Campus where she earned her MA in Spanish. Julie has been an active member in ICTFL and was president in 2009. She also served on the CSCTFL board. Julie loves learning from and collaborating with fellow educators. You can find her on Twitter (@jjezuit) and Pinterest (www.pinterest.com/srtajezuit). She also loves to travel and was fortunate enough to travel to Argentina, China, Cuba, Ecuador, and Peru through ICTFL.

Julie is a tech geek and loves integrating technology into her lessons to enhance her teaching and engage her students. Along with technology, Julie incorporates authentic resources into her lessons as much as possible to draw the students in with culture while developing the different modes of communication to move her students from Novices to Intermediates.

Leslie Rathunde has been teaching Spanish for 17 years and is currently teaching Spanish at Glenbrook North High School. Leslie has participated in ACTFL's OPI training, TALL IL 1.0 and 2.0, and regularly attends local, regional, and national conferences. She has been a presenter at ICTFL Fall Conference, presented at ICTFL Winterfest, and presented at CSCTFL. Leslie is passionate about learning and always seeking new ideas to enhance her teaching. Leslie feels that it is important to help support and develop language learning in Illinois and has served as a member of the ICTFL Board for several years. Over the past 6 years, Leslie has worked on various teams to develop language curriculum at her high school. Working with her colleagues, she has designed and created curriculum for levels 1-4. She has also provided support to other language teachers in the area by delivering workshops on curriculum design at their schools.

Haley Conger is a third year Spanish Teacher at Richwoods High School in Peoria and their speech coach. Recently, she was presented the ICTFL Award for New Teachers of Foreign Language. In her dossier, a colleague wrote, "Haley works tirelessly to educate herself about Comprehensible Input (CI) teaching strategies. She gives her time, talent, and treasure. She is always sharing what she learns with the rest of us. She is a master teacher active in a wide variety of professional learning communities."
